

AAM MARKETRENDS: RIGHT TO PUBLISH AGREEMENT

The undersigned hereby grants to the Association of Accounting Marketing (AAM) the right to publish the article, tentatively entitled (the "work") exclusively in any of AAM's publications and/or to post the article on AAM's website, www.accountingmarketing.org. After AAM's initial publication or posting, (i) the undersigned will have the right to publish or post the work elsewhere with credit to AAM and the undersigned; (ii) AAM will have the right to publish or post the work elsewhere with credit to AAM and the undersigned; (iii) AAM may re-publish the work in other AAM publications or re-post the work on the AAM website; and (iv) AAM may authorize reprints of the work, or posting of the work on other Internet sites, as it appears in AAM publications with appropriate credit to AAM and the undersigned.

The undersigned hereby grants to AAM the copyright and the right to edit the work, provided that a copy of all substantial editorial changes affecting the content of the work will be submitted to and approved prior to publication.

The undersigned hereby grants to AAM the right to use his/her name, likeness, photograph, and biographical information in connection with the advertising, publicity, or promotion of the work in AAM's publications. Other than the attribution the undersigned will receive as author of the work, the undersigned understands that he/she will receive no other compensation for the rights granted to AAM in this agreement.

The undersigned hereby represents and warrants to AAM that the work has not been previously published; that the work contains materials which are the undersigned's original work and which the undersigned believes to be accurate; and that the work does not violate the copyright or proprietary rights of others.

The undersigned agrees that the statements above accurately reflect his/her agreement with AAM.
